PRLog (Press Release) – Sep 29, 2010 – YayValet Releases Major Update to Its Shipping Client Software

Hallandale Beach, FL, September, 2010: YayValet ® introduces a major update to its client application. Keeping on top of vehicle pickup requests has never been easier!

The latest version of the client application introduces a schedule (“current”) view of upcoming and recent requests. Its unique dynamic scrolling feature always keeps the screen aligned to the current time. If you prefer to view request in a simple chronological order, the software still offers the “List View”. When coordinating multiple concurrent upcoming requests in real-time, the new “current view” is ideal!

“Providing our clients with updated tools is a major priority” said David Lidskin President of YayValet ®. Mr. Lidskin continued, “We are always listening to our customer feedback and fine-tuning our product and processes to improve the customer experience”.

The new release also offers a new level of customization capability not available in previous releases.

The engineers at YayValet ® have designed the Client Application to be self-updating. As new releases or software updates are available, the update will automatically be downloaded and installed on the client’s system.
